

Lady J Huston • Corona You Make Me Sick! (REMIX)

LADY J HUSTON presents a different twist on the pandemic with her composition, Corona You Make Me Sick!. The song speaks to the human spirit and helps to release the frustration through song and dance. The energy, upbeat groove and hook makes listeners feel like partying the night away, ready to embrace our new normal. Lady J entered this song in a songwriting competition sponsored by the National Blues Museum (St. Louis) and won the competition. She has been a dedicated advocate for African Americans amidst the pandemic with several Public Service Announcements on CBS News, Mercy Hospital, and in the Associated Press.

Lady J met Michael Frank, CEO of Earwig Music Company in 2022 at the Blues Music Awards. She gave him the self-released single of the song. When they met up again, he was singing it, and that became the impetus for their music partnership. As Covid-19 is still challenging the world's health, they thought it befitting to re-release the song to help foster broader exposure of this fan favorite when Lady J Huston performs.
